ANNOUNCEMENTS

DAVIS THEATRE.

The Wintergarden Revue, Presenting A Night at the Jardin de Paris, a Big Hit This Week—First and Only Authentic Pictures of a Battle in France

The Wintergarden Revue is still continuing to please large houses at every performance at this popular theatre and their offering is causing much favorable comment throughout the city for the manner in which they put it on. The show this first half is called "A Night at the Jardin de Paris," a merry musical comedy with plenty of good singing and clean comedy, with a pretty chorus and a wealth of pretty costumes, all combining to make a pleasant entertainment. Between the acts Mr. McKenna, one of the principals, recites "The Face on the Barroom Floor," with motion pictures, a novelty that is making a big hit in the photoplays today. The feature is called "The Shoal Light," a splendid two-reel Domino drama of the sea. The Mutual War Weekly, showing the first and only authentic picture of an actual battle in France, and shows the battle from the start to the finish, when the dead are wounded and the wounded are killed. The Keystone comedy is called "The Human Hound's Triumph," and it is one of the funniest pictures ever seen here. Making up the second half are 10 cents, children 5 cents. Evening 10, 15 and 20 cents. Tomorrow the Revue will present an entirely new show, with new costumes, new songs and different costumes will be worn from the first half. The photoplays will also be changed tomorrow, and there will be a comedy with Charlie Chaplin.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

"A Siren of Corsica," Three Reels, and "Wireless Rescue," Two Reels.

It is not often that two such striking features are offered on one program in this city, but today the Colonial presents for the three reel feature, "A Siren of Corsica," by the Lubin all-star cast, including Lillie Leslie, Florence Hacke, Jack Stander, William Cobhill, and many others well known from the appearances in the many super Lubin features at the Colonial, notably "The Lion and the Mouse," "The Third Degree," and others. The story deals with the love affair of a wealthy married American with La Belle Corsica, a notorious character in the gambling palaces of the old world. The Wireless Rescue, a two reel Vitaphone drama, is the other attraction for today, and tells of a revengeful engineer who assaults a tower man, and attempts to wreck a train and would have succeeded but for the timely intervention of the tower man's daughter, who assaults the wireless and flashed the message that was received on the limited, and saved the approaching train from running into the open burning palaces of the tower. The program for today could scarcely be called, and remains for today only. Remember we give 20 library coupons with every 10 ticket and 10 with every five cent ticket.

TONIGHT AT THE AUDITORIUM.

A new feature will be introduced at the Auditorium tonight in conjunction with the big musical comedy show, when cash prizes will be given away. This idea has been very successfully in the larger cities, and the management of the Auditorium, always looking for something new, has decided to introduce this stunt in Norwich. It will take place immediately after the first show and will be run in a very similar manner to the Country Store. There will be about 15 prizes in all, and they will range from one to five. All this will be entirely in addition to the regular programme of pictures and the biggest musical comedy show that ever played Norwich at popular prices and a show that is filling the house at every performance. Harry LeVan, a very clever comedian, George Douglas, a very clever singer, a sweet voiced singer, keep things going in lively fashion and are very capably assisted by a company of 23 others. Many Broadway stars have exceptionally well impersonated in the review which the company introduces and every detail is looked after in regard to the staging of the numbers. A carload of special scenery and effects is carried and an elaborate stage setting is used. On the picture programme to-day King Baggot is the star in the feature two-reel picture entitled "The City of Terrible Night," a drama of human interest, and one of the finest pictures ever shown in Norwich. "Busted Romance" will be the Butler's reel, and it is one of the Sterling company's latest. Entire change of programme will take place tomorrow.
